Call for papers

Founded in 2012, the journal Space and Economy – Brazilian Journal of Economic Geography it keeps open, in continuous flow, the article act of receiving for submission and publication. According to international peer review policies, every work will be evaluated by two readers at least. We publish research in Portuguese, English, Spanish and French. If our main focus lies in the relations between space and economy, we accept also works on general human geography, and interdisciplinary research drawing on space and society.

The Research Paths section it is dedicated mainly to the publication of inquiries still in preliminary phase of researchers that want to divulge aspects excellent of its research, but could include well-problematized fieldwork reviews. We encourage book reviews on recent literature. More information can be found in the Authors Instructions (<http://espacoeconomia.revues.org/388>).
